

BRIEF PROFILE

Mr Chuma Mtyelwa

Specialization: Senior Lecturer – Agricultural Extension

Email: cmtyelwa@fortcox.ac.za

Chuma Mtyelwa is an Agricultural Extension Senior Lecturer with an academic background in sustainable agriculture and rural development.

He possesses a Master's degree in Agricultural Extension (UFH) and a Master's in Sustainable Agriculture (UFS).

He also holds a Postgraduate Diploma in Higher Education (PGDip HE) from Rhodes University, which strengthens his expertise in curriculum development, teaching practice, and student learning support in higher education.

His expertise lies in agricultural extension practice, smallholder irrigation systems, climate-smart agriculture, participatory rural development, and higher education pedagogy.

His current research interests include smallholder irrigation systems, farmer-led irrigation innovations, water-use efficiency, and strengthening extension support for smallholder farming systems.